

METHOD FOR RESOLVING ISSUES WITHIN A TEAM ENVIRONMENT

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method is adapted to utilize the Internet as a medium for

- 5 providing information and data management and sharing between diverse project team members. The project team members may be part of diverse functional organizations within one or more larger organizations, may be geographically separated, or may utilize differing information management tools to perform their work activities. Each team may have its own
- 10 organization separate from the organization from which the team members are drawn. Moreover, the information and data may be financial, technical, marketing and the like.